Change can happen quickly but often to institutionalize that change much more time is required. When I started at the OC Health Care Agency in 1999 my role was to stand up a new department called Cultural Competency & Multiethnic Services and to work with the local Communities of color and culture to be more inclusive and provide effective behavioral services to all in need. Today, 23 years later , I had the privilege of meeting with many of those community leaders to address how to more effectively use data and story to ensure we aren't missing the forest thru the trees- literally. If we categorize all Asian , Native Hawaiian and Pacific Islanders as 1 group we miss the story about the outrageous health disparities in each of our communities. Our partners The Cambodian Family, KCS, Inc., OCAPICA, Tricia Nguyen -Southland Integrates Services and many more do the back breaking work daily to address equity. As OC Health Care Agency Public Health Officer said today , "Data without action doesn't tell the story." We have to do better-together.

Meta AI : What is gangstalking?

Gang stalking, also known as organized stalking or community-based harassment, refers to a purported practice in which individuals or groups are targeted by coordinated groups of people who aim to harass, intimidate, or monitor them. The phenomenon has been described by some as a form of psychological warfare or domestic terrorism.

Reports of gang stalking often involve allegations of:

Surveillance: Being constantly watched, monitored, or tracked.

Harassment: Receiving threatening or intimidating messages, phone calls, or visits.

Sabotage: Experiencing deliberate interference with personal property, finances, or daily life.

Social manipulation: Being isolated from friends and family or facing reputation damage.

The exact prevalence and nature of gang stalking are difficult to determine due to varying interpretations, lack of concrete evidence, and concerns about the mental health of some individuals reporting these experiences.

If you or someone you know is experiencing alleged gang stalking, consider:

Seeking support from law enforcement, legal professionals, or counseling services.

Documenting incidents thoroughly.

Prioritizing safety and privacy.

Stay informed and cautious.

From the standpoint of awareness, it made sense in the past to combine As and PIs. But as far as data driving action, the As are very different from PIs. The next step is to drill down even further as so little MH or psychology research has been done with Filipinos that it's a disservice to apply learning from other Asian groups to them. So many distinguishing features of Filipino culture to consider apart from As, much less APIs.

It is great to see a commitment to BOTH data and action, as both are necessary ingredients for equity and justice for communities often rendered invisible in data systems and thus contributing to institutional in-action. Kudos to you all!

Thank you for pointing this out and the importance to disaggregate the data within the AAPHI community.
